THE Chinese in the Straits Settlements and in the Dutch Indies would give comparatively little trouble to the Authorities there were it not for the Secret Societies. These Societies, as in China, are perpetually formenting disturbances and getting no quarrels, which too, frequently assume a serious aspect. At Panang, as will be seen by a report published elsewhere, there has recently been a groat fight between two rival Borieties, the Ghee Hins and the Ghee Hocks, in which a number of men were dangerously wounded and one was shot by the Inspector, after repeated warnings. . The decided action of Inspector PILFERT brought the rioters' demonstration to an end, and no doubt saved a large number of lives, for these Society or clan fights are usually carried on with the utmost determination and reckless disregard of consequences. A similar riot occurred almost at the same date in Lower Batavia, and it was only prevented from gaining alarming dimensions by the prompt and vigorous. measures taken by the police and military, The Chinese, though ordinarily quiet and peaceable enough, can be stirred up to of them offered to exchange his own tattered pair acts of violence and exhibitions of fury sufficiently difficult to put down. Strong mensures are necessary to repress these constantly struck him a violent, blow on the chest, which recurring riots, and the courage and resolu - sent him backwards over some rocks, upon seeing tion exhibited by Inspector Pitrer are deserving of praise. The sacrifice of one life undoubtedly saved a number and stayed the of the disturbance, Vacillation would have been dissetrous, and probably fatal to himself, at such a juncture. The turbulent nature of these Societies renders it of great importance that the Police Inspectors in the Straits Settlements should be mon of energy, conrage, and decision.

They were sleeping in the same room, and between one and two o'clock, Mr. Russell was awakened by a noise, and saw a man standing at the foot of the bed with a drawn sword in his hand. Another man at the other end of the bed out through the mosquito curtain with a sword, and simed a blow at Mr. Russell's head, which he parried with his left hand, the weapon making a gash across the palm Mr. Russell sprang up and made are h past his askeilant, running into the adjoining room to get an old sword that was there. In trying to remove the sheath with his left hand, he felt, for the the sword with his right hand, he removed the sheath and ran back to the assistance of his host, In the meantime, the robbers made a combined assault upon Mr. Jones, who after receiving swords in his hand and wrenched it away from his assailant. While he did so the two other men cut him across the head and back. When Mr. Russell again appeared, armed with a sword the robbers made good their escape, leaving Mr. Jones the more severely wounded of the two.

Mr. Russell's wound is also serious, and he will be unable to return to Yokohama for a week. Yesterday (September 1st) Mr. Jones was reported as being a little better. Both gentlemen were attended by Dr. Sate, who has a country house at Sakura, at a distance of about seven miles from the farm. Two out of the three men who committed the outrage have been captured and one of them has been recognized as the late Kocho of a neighbouring village. There were five servants in the house at the time of the burglars' visit, and these were all secured before the attack upon the Europeans.

United States Minister, with his secretary, left Tokin for a visit to the farm, taking a doctor the inhabitants of Taing Yuen during the with him. Immediately after receiving the news, the Government sent Dr. F. Schultze and Dr. Sato to see Mr. Ap. Jones. Dr. Schultze, who has returned from the Shimosa farm, reports that while Mr. Jones is very severely wounded, he is progressing favourably and that he is being ably treated by Dr. Sato It appears, from further details of the attack

M. P. Evans, Esq. j C. Lucas, Esq.

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete; that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all

Europeans residing in China, and to the natives very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted.

To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :—

Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which this work contains more than five times as
